

ABSTRACT

This invention provides a method for identifying the precise locations of mutations in whole genomes using restriction enzymes and transformation frequency data.